

"Entrusted With The Mystery"

1Corinthians 3:5-9; 4:1-2

Pastor Samuel AJ Williams

Word of Change Ministries
Something Different Season 2026

Day 1: Trusted with Truth

Devotional

Have you ever wondered why God reveals certain truths to you? Why He opens your eyes to see His goodness in specific moments or gives you insight into His Word that touches your heart deeply? It's not random or accidental. When God entrusts you with revelation - whether through His Word, prayer, or life experiences - He's demonstrating His trust in you. God doesn't waste His revelations on people He plans to abandon. Instead, He carefully chooses who receives His truth because He sees potential in them. He knows you're capable of handling what He's about to give you. This means that every spiritual insight, every moment of clarity about His love, every vision He places in your heart is a sacred trust. You are not just a casual observer of God's work - you're a chosen steward of His mysteries. The truths about Christ's love, grace for sinners, and the unity we share as believers aren't just nice concepts to appreciate. They're treasures placed in your care to manage faithfully. God has privileged you with information that transforms lives, and He's counting on you to be a faithful manager of these gifts.

"Entrusted With The Mystery"

1 Corinthians 3:5-9; 4:1-2

Pastor Samuel AJ Williams

Bible Verse

'What, after all, is Apollos? And what is Paul? Only servants, through whom you came to believe—as the Lord has assigned to each his task. I planted the seed, Apollos watered it, but God has been making it grow. So neither the one who plants nor the one who waters is anything, but only God, who makes things grow. The one who plants and the one who waters have one purpose, and they will each be rewarded according to their own labor. For we are co-workers in God's service; you are God's field, God's building.' - 1 Corinthians 3:5-9

Reflection Question

What specific truth or revelation has God entrusted to you recently, and how can you be a faithful steward of it today?

Quote

When God entrusts you, that ain't never just casual. God entrusts you is never just something by happenstance. And when God reveals truth to our house, that ain't accidental, babies.

Prayer

Lord, thank You for trusting me with Your truth. Help me recognize the sacred responsibility that comes with every revelation You give me, and grant me wisdom to steward it faithfully.

Day 2: Servants, Not Celebrities

Devotional

In our culture of social media influence and celebrity worship, it's easy to misunderstand what Christian leadership really looks like. We might be tempted to follow personalities, chase after the most charismatic speakers, or elevate certain believers to celebrity status. But this completely misses the heart of what God intended. Christian leaders - and all believers - are called to be servants, not celebrities. The word Paul uses for servant refers to under-rowers on ancient ships who worked below deck, invisible to passengers above but essential to the vessel's movement. These rowers followed their captain's voice in perfect rhythm, their consistent work propelling the entire ship forward. This is the beautiful picture of how we should serve. We're not meant to be in the spotlight seeking applause. Instead, we work faithfully below deck, listening for Jesus' voice and rowing in rhythm with His will. Our consistency and faithfulness, even when unseen, moves God's kingdom forward. We don't need recognition from others - we need only to hear our Captain's voice and follow His lead. When we embrace this servant's heart, we find freedom from the pressure to perform and the joy of purposeful service.

"Entrusted With The Mystery"

1Corinthians 3:5-9; 4:1-2

Pastor Samuel AJ Williams

Bible Verse

'This, then, is how you ought to regard us: as servants of Christ and as those entrusted with the mysteries God has revealed. Now it is required that those who have been given a trust must prove faithful.' - 1 Corinthians 4:1-2

Reflection Question: In what areas of your life are you tempted to seek recognition rather than faithfully serve below deck?

Quote: We are not celebrities. We are not captains. We are not owners. We are servants of Christ.

Prayer: Jesus, help me embrace the heart of a servant rather than seeking the spotlight. Teach me to find joy in faithful service, even when no one else notices.

"Entrusted With The Mystery"

1Corinthians 3:5-9; 4:1-2

Pastor Samuel AJ Williams

Day 3: Managers, Not Owners

Devotional

There's a profound difference between owning something and managing it. An owner has ultimate authority and can do whatever they please with their possession. A manager, however, is responsible for caring for something that belongs to someone else, following the owner's instructions and priorities. As believers, we are stewards - managers - of God's mysteries and gifts. The spiritual insights we receive, the talents we possess, the resources we have, even the relationships in our lives - none of these truly belong to us. They are entrusted to our care by the true Owner, God Himself. This perspective changes everything. When we realize we're managing God's property rather than our own, we become more careful, more intentional, and more accountable. We ask different questions: "How does the Owner want me to use this?" "What would please Him?" "How can I best care for what He's entrusted to me?" The greatest thing we steward isn't money or possessions - it's the revelation God gives us about Himself, His love, and His truth. These spiritual treasures require our most careful management because they have eternal impact on ourselves and others.

Bible Verse

'This, then, is how you ought to regard us: as servants of Christ and as those entrusted with the mysteries God has revealed. Now it is required that those who have been given a trust must prove faithful.' - 1 Corinthians 4:1-2

Reflection Question: What has God entrusted to your care that you've been treating like you own it rather than manage it?

Quote: A steward is not an owner. A steward is a manager. A steward manages what belongs to somebody else.

"Entrusted With The Mystery"

1Corinthians 3:5-9; 4:1-2

Pastor Samuel AJ Williams

Prayer: Father, help me remember that everything I have belongs to You. Give me wisdom to be a faithful manager of all You've entrusted to my care.

Day 4: Faithfulness Over Perfection

Devotional

God doesn't expect perfection from His stewards - He expects faithfulness. There's incredible freedom in understanding this distinction. Perfection is an impossible standard that leads to frustration and burnout. Faithfulness, however, is about consistency, showing up, and doing your best with what you've been given. Faithfulness isn't measured by how loud you are or how impressive your spiritual performances appear to others. It's found in the quiet moments when nobody's watching - praying when you don't feel like it, forgiving when it's easier to hold a grudge, showing up consistently even when you're tired or discouraged. True faithfulness means growing beyond the same spiritual battles year after year. It means developing maturity that doesn't fight the same fights forever. Some things you should have a handle on by now, and that's okay - it's part of growing up in your faith. Being faithful also means daring to be different from the world around you. It's choosing God's ways even when they don't make sense to others. When you consistently choose faithfulness over convenience, God sees your heart and trusts you with more. Faithfulness isn't pressure - it's a privilege that positions you for greater things in God's kingdom.

Bible Verse

'This, then, is how you ought to regard us: as servants of Christ and as those entrusted with the mysteries God has revealed. Now it is required that those who have been given a trust must prove faithful.' - 1 Corinthians 4:1-2

"Entrusted With The Mystery"

1Corinthians 3:5-9; 4:1-2

Pastor Samuel AJ Williams

Reflection Question: What does faithfulness look like in your current season, and where do you need to grow in consistency rather than seeking perfection?

Quote: Faithfulness is not about how loud we are. Faithfulness is about how consistent we are.

Prayer: Lord, thank You for calling me to faithfulness rather than perfection. Help me be consistent in the small things so You can trust me with greater things.

Day 5: Positioned for Purpose

Devotional

When God entrusts you with revelation, vision, or spiritual insight, He's not just sharing information - He's positioning you for something greater. Like a chess master planning several moves ahead, God strategically places His people where they need to be for His purposes to unfold. God doesn't waste His entrustment on people He plans to leave immature or unused. When He shows you His truth, gives you a vision, or reveals His heart to you, He's demonstrating His confidence in your ability to carry what He's giving you. He believes you're capable of handling the responsibility that comes with spiritual revelation. This positioning comes with expectation - not the crushing weight of performance, but the exciting anticipation of partnership with God. He's preparing you for something specific, something that requires the exact truth He's been showing you. Your faithfulness in stewarding what He's already given determines how much more He can entrust to you. Remember, if Christ is real in your life, then your faithfulness must be real too. You can't claim to believe in Jesus while being casual about the truths He's revealed to you. Your consistent response to God's entrustment today prepares you for the greater purposes He has planned for tomorrow.

"Entrusted With The Mystery"

1Corinthians 3:5-9; 4:1-2

Pastor Samuel AJ Williams

Bible Verse

'What, after all, is Apollos? And what is Paul? Only servants, through whom you came to believe—as the Lord has assigned to each his task. I planted the seed, Apollos watered it, but God has been making it grow. So neither the one who plants nor the one who waters is anything, but only God, who makes things grow. The one who plants and the one who waters have one purpose, and they will each be rewarded according to their own labor. For we are co-workers in God's service; you are God's field, God's building.' - 1 Corinthians 3:5-9

Reflection Question: How might God be positioning you through the revelations and insights He's been giving you lately?

Quote: When God positions, he entrusts us first. It's like playing chess. You have to plan your next move as you are moving one piece.

Prayer: God, I trust that You're positioning me for Your purposes. Help me be faithful with what You've already shown me so I'm ready for what You have planned next.